

522 Productions is a dedicated video production agency that's been reimagining the corporate video since 2004. We fired some of the first shots of the Digital Revolution (a month before YouTube launched) when barriers to entry crumbled both for us and for our clients. Since that time, we've mastered how to navigate the evolving worlds of online video and strategic communications in a way that older companies don't understand, and younger companies have yet to figure out.
